Here to support in-house legal teams

We work with general counsel, heads of legal and senior in-house lawyers (or those responsible for legal teams) to help you navigate the pressures and challenges you face when running a busy in-house legal department.

What is HCR Flex?

HCR Flex is our specialist flexible, in-house legal resource service designed specifically for leaders and busy legal teams who need immediate, tailored access to experienced commercial lawyers. Whether you're managing recruitment gaps, sudden workload spikes or require specialist expertise for critical projects, HCR Flex delivers agile, cost-effective interim legal support without the expense or long-term commitment of permanent hires.

We understand the daily pressures faced by in-house lawyers, from high volumes of work and tight deadlines to budget constraints and limited resources. We also understand it is difficult to assess how much or for how long you need legal support. These challenges have driven demand for smarter, more agile legal resourcing solutions.

HCR Flex offers immediate access to skilled commercial lawyers who seamlessly integrate with legal teams, on-site or remotely, delivering high-quality, sector-specific advice across areas such as commercial contracts, regulatory compliance, governance, intellectual property and dispute resolution. There is never a minimum term and you can always dial up or dial down the service as and when you require.
