Alternative complaints bodies (such as ProMediate) exist which are competent to deal with complaints about legal services should both you and the firm wish to use the same. Should you wish to use an alternative dispute resolution service please notify us and we will confirm in writing whether we are prepared to submit the matter to your chosen resolution body.

Who can complain?

This procedure is reserved for clients of the firm. If you are not a client but wish to make a complaint, we will exercise our discretion in these circumstances to investigate your concerns.

If you are a client and wish to nominate someone to complain on your behalf, or there are multiple parties to your complaint, you may need to sign a Representative Authority Form which can be provided at your request.

What happens next?

We will acknowledge your complaint within three working days and check with you that we have understood your concerns.

We will investigate your complaint by reviewing your file and liaising with those handling your matter. We aim to provide you with a response within 28-days of acknowledging your complaint, detailing our conclusions and how we reached them. If we are unable to respond within 28 days we will advise you.

The Legal Ombudsman allows eight weeks to provide you with a response. If we have to change any of the timescales, we will let you know and explain why.

Solicitors Regulation Authority

If you think a solicitor may have been dishonest or you have concerns about their ethics and/ or integrity, you also have the right to notify our regulator, the Solicitors Regulation Authority (SRA).

There are no time limits for making a report but there are limits on what the SRA will consider. They may require evidence from you to demonstrate the issues raised with them, to allow them to investigate matters.

Please note that the SRA is not able to deal with issues of unreasonable service. Complaints of this nature should instead be referred to the Legal Ombudsman using the details above, after a complaint has first been raised with the firm.

For further information on reporting a solicitor/ firm to the SRA, please visit:
